

HRMS User Manual — Manager

Team tasks, attendance, DPR review, leave and KRA

1. Manager responsibilities

- Manage and review direct reports, assign tasks, review DPRs, process manager-stage leave approvals and monitor team performance.
- Manager access is limited to the appropriate team scope; HR retains organization-wide administration.

2. Task management

- Assign tasks to direct reports with clear descriptions, due dates and expected outputs.
- Review completion output, blockers and proof. The system can use task AI analysis as KRA evidence.
- Avoid approving work without sufficient evidence when evidence is required.

3. DPR review

- Review submitted DPRs for completeness, accuracy and quality.
- Approve when the daily report is acceptable. Request changes or reject with a meaningful comment when correction is needed.
- Manager quality scores feed the employee's KRA quality evidence.

4. Leave

- Review employee leave requests at the manager stage.
- Approve or reject according to department policy and operational requirements. Approved requests continue to HR for final processing where configured.

5. Team attendance

- Review team check-in/check-out and monthly attendance information.
- The employee's department calendar controls working days and Saturday policy.
- The current late rule is after 10:30 AM; three or more monthly lates can produce the configured one-day deduction.

6. Team KRA

- Team KRA scores are generated from recorded evidence rather than requiring managers to manually score every metric.

- The system can evaluate attendance, task completion, deadline adherence, DPR submission, quality, collaboration and role-specific metrics using the configured evidence sources.
- Use the evidence and gaps shown by the system to coach employees. Do not treat missing external-platform data as completed work.
- Month-end finalization uses the complete monthly evidence set and can trigger the organization's three-strike rules.
